FROM THE ENGINEER

Winter has been continuing its assault. We had a record low of 14 below on the 12th and 5 more inches of snow on the 18th. It is showing signs of alleviating. The temperature reached 54 degrees briefly late last night, and we didn't get as much rain yesterday as forecast. None the less, I believe we could claim to be "the land of 10,000 lakes" today due to all the fields that are flooded due to all ditches being plugged with ice. Hopefully water will tunnel through and they'll start flowing. We're going to help out at least the one on the south side of CR 89 with our excavator this afternoon.

On Wednesday the 19th, we held our annual Trustee Meeting in our Ready Room. We tried a new format this year. All office personnel and Chad made presentations about their areas of expertise. It worked very well. I would like to thank Kris, Kim, Carlos, Matt, Rich, Rick, Dean, and Chad for participating and everyone else who helped in any way like getting the building cleaned, tables and chairs set up, and whatever else was necessary. Thanks to all for a job well done!
